

Before we can make it publicly available on WRaP, every image, graph, table, appendix and diagram in your thesis must be labelled to indicate who the creator/copyright owner is.

If you created the figure yourself, state this within the label:

If the figure was published under an open license such as a CC license, give details of the source and license:

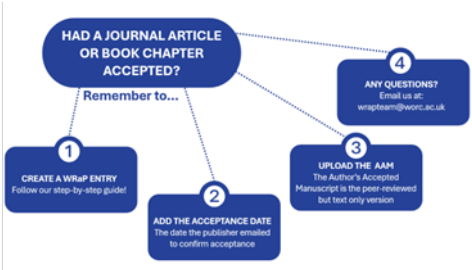

Source: WRaP, 2024; available under the CC BY 4.0 license
<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

If you have taken the figure from someone else's copyrighted work:

This content requires permission to use in a published work. Guidance on seeking permission can be found here: <https://libguides.cam.ac.uk/copyright/researchers/thirdpartycopyright>

If you have gained permission to use a figure or image, please forward the permissions to wrapteam@worc.ac.uk and label the figure or image with details of the source and permission:

If you cannot gain written permission to use the figure, the image must be redacted:

A description of the missing image can be added if needed, to aid understanding by the reader.
